1,884 Leave Harvard.
Rabbits and Humans.
Throw Away Ambition.
Sound in Movies.

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE
HARVARD gave degrees yesterday to 1,884 students. Of four young men attaining highest academic standing, taking their bachelor's degree, summa cum laude, two were Jewish boys. That should modify a certain Harvard attitude on one race question.

THE French say: "Travel forms youth when it doesn't deform it." The same is true of a college education.

How many of the 1,884 young men are able for having gone to college? How many leave with a keen desire for knowledge, how many with a conviction that they know almost everything?

How many would have been far ahead on the road to success if they had spent their college years at work?

CHARLES F. BRUSH, able citizen, inventor of the arc light, sets aside $500,000 to keep down excess population and improve the race.

Mr. Brush advocates stringent birth control, sterilization of the physically and mentally unfit.

MANY think they can improve on Providence and the workings of nature in regard to population.

Nature knows how to get rid of the unfit. The important thing is to have crowds of humans from which to select exceptional men and women to do the real work.

HOWEVER, nature's methods change. China that once drowned the girls now keeps them alive.

Plagues that killed off millions a year are fought by modern science and population thus increased.

Hunger and plagues used to kill off the weak as well as those that were too combative.

If civilization stops war and science conquers disease it may be necessary—artificially—to prevent human multiplying as the rabbits did in Australia.

SIR JAMES BARRIE tells Rhodes scholars not to try for "greatness." The advice was humorous, probably. Trying for greatness produces undesirable mediocrity. Men "aim high to shoot low" as the illustrious colonel said and then he asked Grover Cleveland to make him a liberian of Congress. He really wanted a job as postman.

A baby cry for the mom and is satisfied with a cooing. Youth reaches for greatness and is content with modest achievement and a place on the golf course.

WINFIELD R. SHEEHAN, who knows about moving pictures, says screens will be much bigger for large-sized theaters now building everywhere. That will make it necessary to revise production methods.

Most important for budding genius, he says the "talking movie" will create a new army of scenario writers knowing how to make sound effective in pictures.

In a detective story noise of a crackling board or a shot might be more effective than the hero's smile.

Mr. Sheehan believes that the pictures with sound will double moving picture attendance.

SECRETARY WORK of the Interior Department will conduct Secretary Hoover's presidential campaign. No better man could be chosen.

Like Mr. Hoover, Mr. Work knows this country, understands the work of development that the country needs and is in full sympathy with Secretary Hoover's plans and past accomplishments.

Mr. Hoover is fortunate in having Senator Curtis for a running mate, and doubly fortunate with Secretary Work directing his campaign.

BIG Steel and Bethlehem Steel Corporation combine with others in forming the "Steel Export Association of America." United States Steel is the biggest steel concern in the world. That combination of important American companies is needed to compete with European nations and preserve American foreign markets.

CHILDISH talk of "necessary competition" and prattle about keeping business from getting "too big" are out of date.

Where nations combine to monopolize world business, great American enterprisers must combine for self-defense.

Possibly some one will find a way to help our farmers form such a combination. They need it.

"ONE-EYE" READY

Connolly in Boston To Crash Democratic Convention

Houston, Tex., June 22—The Democrats can go ahead now and hold their convention, because "One-Eye" Connolly, the champion pro-america of them all, is here, ready for action.

Smith Reasserts His Opinion That Volstead Law Needs Amending

BULLETIN

Houston, Tex., June 22—Gov. Al Smith will make a decision at Albany or New York within 24 hours whether his managers are to make a fight at the Democratic national convention for a plank in the Democratic platform calling for modification of the Volstead Law.

The governor's wishes on the wet-dry question will be carried out by the New York delegation to the convention, George H. Van Natta, pro-convention manager for Smith, declared here today.

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES
Star Staff Correspondent

Houston, June 22—The prohibition issue stalked like a gaunt grey ghost today among the early arriving delegates to the Democratic national convention.

It was uppermost in everybody's mind; it was glossed about and speculated upon in the hotel lobbies whenever politicians gathered; it figured in every brand of pre-convention speculation.

Only a negligible few of the arrivals, whether delegates or so-called leaders, believe that the fight over the presidential nomination will be anything but short and snappy. The opinion that Gov. Al Smith will be nominated within three ballots is as universal that it is accepted on all sides as a fact, with the possible exception of those who are backing Senator James A. Reed. The Reed managers still grimly insist that Smith isn't nominated—and won't be.

But they are getting little encouragement.

By Permanent Law

The prohibition issue, or rather the question of how the Democrats are to deal with it in their platform next week, has become, for the time being at least, the paramount issue in this pre-convention maneuvering.

Norman Maca, the veteran New York national committeeman, raised the issue by his bold statement that Governor Smith was and is in favor of allowing each state to make its own interpretation of the dry laws. Senator George H. Van Natta, campaign manager for Governor Smith, contributed to it by his rather sharp rejoinder that

AND Where To Go

By JAMES W. STUBER
CAN you tell a large mouth bass from a small mouth? That's easy. Can you tell a pike from a pickerel or muskellunge? That's harder.

By a rule or stick, from the V of the mouth to the V of the tail. Draw a line with a rule or stick from the center of the eye down across the other rule or stick. If the corner of the mouth is in front of the stick across the eye, where the marks cross, it is a small mouth. If it extends beyond the place where they cross it is a large mouth. The small mouth often has a red fleck in the eye. The large mouth generally has a black eye. The small mouth has dark vertical markings. The large mouth has a lateral line marking along its side.

Commonly speaking the corner of the mouth of large mouth extends back beyond the eye; the corner of the mouth of a small mouth stays in front of the eye. This is the simple easy way to tell.

Large mouth are more likely to be found in lakes ponds or quiet waters, and small mouths in swift water and streams. There are only two kinds of bass in Ohio, the large mouth and the small mouth. Such names as green bass, pond bass, yellow bass or grass bass, are only local names. The color of the bass is influenced by his habitat or surroundings.

Here is the common way to distinguish the pike, the common and muskellunge. The cheeks are scaled on the pike, while the gill covers scaled on the upper part. The lower part is bare of scales. The pickerel is fully scaled on both cheeks and gill covers. The muskellunge is without scales on the lower cheeks or gill covers.

Lake Erie—Lakeside is in Ottawa County on Lake Erie. It is reached by N. Y. C. Railway, from Toledo or Cleveland to Danbury. From Danbury take Lakeside and Marblehead railway to Lakeside. Write Lakeside Association for names of guides and locations. Good automobile roads via Fremont or via Port Clinton to Lakeside. Within easy reach of East, West and Middle Harbors, Put-in-Bay, Put-in-Bay, or Sandusky marshes. Large and small mouth bass, pike, pickerel, shad, bass and bluegill. Good camping.

Walhonding River—Coshocton County, Ohio. Reached via Pennsylvania Railroad to Coshocton. Drive to river by automobile from Coshocton. Hotel accommodations at Coshocton. Good camping sites along the river. Here is where Columbus and Cleveland fishers go for small mouth bass and muskellunge. A few pickerel are also taken.

Muskellunge in Ohio—The most beautiful of all muskellunge are the Ohio "muskie"—Down the Muskingum at Eagles Port or at Lake Chautauk are good points. River drive from Marietta or from Zanesville down the river. Muskellunge are also taken at Elsie above Zanesville. Good small mouth bass and "black salmons" are also caught. Muskegong river outfall or "equivalent" are plentiful.

In Pennsylvania—In the heart of good deer and bear country, Pike County, Pennsylvania, is Pech's Pond. Trout streams are within easy reach. Purch, shad, pike and large mouth bass are taken in the pond. Good grouse shooting in season.

A great thrill that only the fisherman knows!

"Strike one" with Pech's Pond here, means that the big battle is on; the outcome will certainly be "one OUT,"—and two to the boat.

Mickey Walker Retains Middleweight Championship

WALSH DECLARES HUDKINS WINNER

Dispute Results as to Victor in Title Bout Between Judges. Referee and Newspapermen: Critic Gives Champion Two and Challenger Seven of 10 Rounds

By DAVIS J. WALSH

Chicago, June 22—They pulled one out of the hat for the boys at Comiskey Park in the rain last night when they said Mickey Walker was the winner over Ace Hudkins in their 10-round fight for the middleweight championship of the world. Walker didn't win, according to my scoring, any more than the same fighter beat Dave shade out of the welterweight title in New York several years ago, according to popular indictment: a tiny more than he won the title he now holds at the expense of the late Tiger Flowers.

But I find I'm mellowing in the aging wood very nicely. No longer do I react violently to decisions that fail to exalt my judgment. The pass has been reached where respect for the opinions of others has become strangely tolerant and the fact of the matter was that two local citizens, Ed Kerlin, a restaurateur, and Harry Carroll, an auditor, sat in the judges' chair and said that Walker had won. Ed Purdy, the referee, voted for Hudkins but quite a few newspaper critics saw it the way the judges did. The crowd of some 30,000 didn't like it at all.

Walker Gets Two
So maybe there was a margin of honest doubt about the business and maybe, too, I'm as blind as a book without an eye. It must have been one of the other; it couldn't be both.

Walker, as the writer saw him, carried just two rounds of the ten, one of them by a convincing margin. This was the fourth in which he had Hudkins frollicking on the edge of a knockout from a flurry of lefts and rights to the jaw. This was Walker's big moment and virtually his only one, just as the seventh round was Dempsey's climax with Tunney. It also was Dempsey's with-climes before the bell sent them into another round and strangely there was some resemblance of this to Walker's failure to put Hudkins on the floor in the fourth last night. One more punch might have won for both of them but neither had it.

Walker blew up with victory in sight. He did Dempsey. His arms and legs went dead when by all odds of the game, they should have been tingling with life. Dempsey did the same. I think Walker is through. I know Dempsey is.

Mickey Weary
Walker was so weary after the fourth that he could barely lift his arms and then only to protect himself against Hudkins' incessant attack on the body. It is difficult to see how they could give a decision to a man who did nothing very steadily for the last six rounds. But they could; in fact, the matter went a trifle further than that. They did.

Some observers said they thought Walker won because he landed the cleaner punches. Personally, I would like to know just how many he landed, clean or otherwise, in the last six rounds and I'll even count the ones he would have liked to start, had he been able. The champion just didn't have a

JONES GOES HOT AT TOURNAMENT

Greatest Field Ever Assembled Makes Ready for Second Round of National Open Golf Championship Today at Olympia Field Course

Olympia Fields, Ill., June 22—Matters looked no worse than extremely good for Hobby Jones, the chronic champion as the greatest field ever assembled on one golf course made ready to have at it once more in the second round of the National Open Championship this morning. It probably would be going a bit too far, as they said about the man who walked very firmly out the third story window, to declare that Jones cannot lose.

The first day fairly rocked with surprises that featured men like Bell, Quig, Leonard Schmitz, Horton Smith, Johnny Jones and Fred Morrison, in the first ten. The hardened campaigners who broke through in the same class were Willie MacFarlane, the 1926 champion; Freddie McCleod, Willie Hunter, Jim Barnes, Diegel, Leach and Golden and not one of them is quite the Jones type. That applied too, to the group immediately behind Hobby—Joe Turness, George Von Elm, Frank Walsh, Billy Burk and Roland Hanchock. Good men all but they don't quite belong at the top.

The test pressure, of course will not come until the final day when the boys will be asked to play 36 holes at top speed, morning and afternoon. Only a hearty good will, the 70 shooters today very quickly becoming the shooters of tomorrow.

ANCIENT RIVALS TO CLASH IN FOUR-MILE CREW RACE TONIGHT

Harvard-Yale Regatta. Oldest Sporting Event, on Thames River Course

New London, Conn., June 22—America's oldest sporting event, the Harvard-Yale Regatta, dating back three quarters of a century, will tack another chapter to its long history at dusk to-night when the undefeated Harvard varsity crew and all-conquering Yale eight battle through the four miles of the historic Thames River course in a race which gives promise of being one of the most brilliant in the long record of contests between these ancient rivals.

Few times since the two first met in the almost forgotten past of 1852 have they sent to the Thames crews better matched than are the pair which will fight it out before a crowd of close to 100,000 this afternoon, after the freshmen and junior varsity races have been held. All the betting is at even money.

None too promising weather awaits the crews.

If one has a dominating personality, one ought to find it out early in life.

Bacon Loses Batting Eye, Average Takes Slump

SHARROCK LEADS WITH .500 MARK

Conroy Goes into Second Place as Manager Dips Down to Third; Akron Ball Club Plays Here on Sunday

Getting only one hit in two games, team plays here Sunday.

The averages of the big five of the local team follows:

Player G. AR. R. H. Pet.
Sharrock 6 22 5 11 .500
Conroy 4 10 1 3 .300
Racon 7 21 9 6 .286
Pine 7 30 7 8 .267
May 4 13 1 3 .231

Getting only one hit in two games, team plays here Sunday.

The averages of the big five of the Marion Eagles baseball team re-linquishing his hold on first place.

Bacon led the Eagle hitters for the five games of the season but a batting slump has left him wondering in third place.

He has been to bat 21 times in 7 games and obtained six hits.

Although hitting inconsistently so far this year, Sailor Sharrock is holding down first place with an average of .500.

Last Sunday Sharrock failed to get a safe bing in three times at bat but, in the preceding fray, managed to obtain four good blows in five trips to the plate.

Conroy, who has played in four games, is in second place with a percentage of .300. He has been to bat 10 times being credited with three hits.

The rise of the first sacker caused Pine to slip down to fourth place although his hitting average jumped to .267. The hitting of May has also improved, the local catcher laying them out for an average of .231.

Buckland made a considerable jump in the averages with a percentage of .192. The balance of the team is hitting well below this mark with Price and Rowan each getting one hit each in two contests. Their averages have dropped considerably.

Averages of most of the players were enriched in the contest with Celina two weeks ago when the entire team obtained 13 bingies. Last Sunday, however, Conroy and Buckland were the only players to hit to any degree of success the offerings of Smokey Joe Williams of the Homestead Grays. They obtained two hits each. An Akron team has played in four games. He hit Terri for a one-round goal, missed Sammy Mandell for fifteen rounds and came back last night at the garden to re-instate himself as a first-class fighting man by chopping Phil McGraw down almost as quickly as he disposed of Terri.

It was the first time that McGraw has even been stopped. He was down five times in the first and only round, but he was upright when referee Jack Dorman spiked McLaren's guns. At least Philip can boast that no man has ever yet been able to spread and tack him down for ten seconds.

The official time of the technical knockout was two minutes and 45 seconds. McGraw was halmy and practical-ely on his feet, yet he was able to stand up and feint drunkenly, and might have lasted the 15 seconds that he could get up.

McLaren is now in line for another championship bout with Mandell.

ARREST MEN

Suspects Held at Maryville in Connection With Robbery

Maryville, June 22—Brenton Steedham, of Ravens, Ky., and J. W. Cunningham, of Jackson, Ky., both about 25 years of age, were placed in the county jail here yesterday, as suspicious characters. The men were taken into custody by Officer Anthony Flair, near Rybalia, and it is thought probable that one of the two might have some connection with the Millard Center Bank robbery, last Saturday.

Cunningham is short in stature, being only about five feet tall. Steedham is about six inches taller. The two men were taken to Millard Center Thursday afternoon before Guy Coughenour, who was in charge of the bank at the time it was robbed. Cunningham declared that Cunningham here some resemblance to the bank robber.

Photographs and fingerprints of the two prisoners were taken to be sent to the bureau of Identification at Columbus. The two men were held by the officers.

ARMED MAN ARRESTED

RED LIEUTENANTS SEE SMITH DEFEAT

Wave of Optimism Sweeps Through Headquarters of Missouri Candidate

Houston, Tex., June 22.—A wave of optimism swept through the presidential headquarters of Senator James Reed here today following the announcement that Gen. Al Smith, his chief rival for the Democratic nomination, has reiterated an earlier stand for amendment of the prohibition law.

Reed's lieutenants predicted Smith would be eliminated because of the "radical wet views" and that with the New York governor would be stopped, the Missouri senator would be an easy victor. They declared Smith would be stopped because the Democratic party, with its long dry record, could not nominate a candidate who stood for amendment of the prohibition law.

Reed himself will arrive on the scene of battle tonight. He will see now papermen at a conference Saturday morning and then he is expected to say something about prohibition himself. His record has been one of strict law enforcement and a year ago, he came out against and helped to defeat a wet referendum in Missouri. At that time he declared the time was not ripe for a referendum on prohibition, although wet leaders all over the country had been demanding it. He has been looked upon as a wet, though, because he opposed adoption of the eighteenth amendment.

PROHIBITION FORCES COLLECT FOR FIGHT

Dry Organizations Take Over Offices at Democratic Convention

Houston, Tex., June 22.—Just around the corner from the Rice Hotel, where are housed with headquarters of Smith, Reed, Hull and other candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination is a house furnished office.

Plastered across the entrance is a plain sign reading: "Headquarters for all dry forces."

Plastered on the windows are placards, including:

"Allegiance is to the Constitution."

"Buyers make bootleggers."

"Lawbreakers must not be law makers."

"Do not fear politics, make politics fear you."

Organizations United

Here are gathered all the agencies of the national prohibition organizations which are working not only to work Gov. Al Smith's nomination, but to force the writing of a bone dry plank in the 1924 Democratic national platform.

There was nothing like it at Kansas City. Prohibition leaders, representing the Anti-Saloon League, the W. C. T.
U., the Women's National Democratic Enforcement League, and church organizations say there was no need for such a head quarters at the Republican convention with Hoover as the nominee, but here it is different, because they say "Health must be stopped to prevent a backward step on prohibition."

Demands Dry Plank

The drys will demand a plank that specifically pledges the party to the enforcement of the eighteenth amendment similar to the one adopted by the Republicans. It is over than that the big platform fight centers here.

Smith leaders declared today the army easily could run on such a platform, as naturally he would stand for the enforcement of all laws, whether the Volstead act or the eighteenth amendment, so long as they are on the statute books.

Choose a diamond for brilliance—not size

The size or weight of a diamond has little to do with its value. Brilliance is the deciding factor. Yet only the expert can judge the real brilliance of a diamond, depending as it does on the skill with which the stone is cut.

We have always sold diamonds for what they really are—not for what they seem. As Gruen Jewelers, you may depend on us for quality, always, at fair prices.

Five-Day Convention of Ohio Lodge Closed at Urbana

Urbana, June 29—Installation of offices to head the 50,000 Odd Fellows in Ohio took place at the close of the session of the Grand convention of the state grand of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here today.

At the business session late yesterday Philadelphia was chosen the state convention city for the 1939 convention.

Officers installed this morning were: John W. Gledhill, Warren, grand master; J. M. Prickett, Ethel, Monroe County, deputy grand master; William T. Watkins, Marietta, grand warden; W. R. Clegg, Columbus, grand treasurer; Dr. George Kell, Cincinnati, grand treasurer.

Following installation of these officers, the newly elected grand master appointed assistant officers which include: Rev. L. P. Clark, Warren, grand chaplain; Max. G. Fred M. A. John, Toledo, grand marshal; John G. Hobson, Lisbon, grand conductor; Harry Murray, Warren, grand herald; O. H. Ray, Mansfield, Licking County, grand herald; H. A. Sutton, Springfield, grand messenger, and Charles F. Green, Columbus, assistant grand secretary.

Gledhill, new grand master, succeeded Charles A. Baumers, of Marion.

Approximately 200 delegates from the 70 Ohio districts were present at the day meeting. A resolution to provide for the election as well as the installation of the officers at the state convention, was put before the convention, but it was "tabled" until next year. At present the officers are elected by "mail ballot" some six months before the state convention.

TO REMAIN HOME

Domestic Affairs Will Not Affect Democratic Convention

Columbus, June 29—U. S. Senator Cyrus Barker, Jacob Bracken, secretary to Gov. Vic Donaway; Charles V. Tracy, director of agriculture; Earl D. Nixon, director of commerce, and other prominent state officials who are officers of the governor do not expect to attend the Democratic national convention at Houston, Texas, next week. It was indicated here today.

Explaining the situation, one told-state adviser to the governor pointed out that Governor Donaway has reportedly announced he is not a candidate for any political office. Presence of these men at the convention, it was thought, might cause a portion of the public at least to suspect that effort was being made to bring about Donaway's nomination for president or vice president.

FOUR HAVE NARROW ESCAPE IN MISMAP

Sedan Driven by Frederick Smith Upsets Near Upper Sandusky

Four persons narrowly escaped injury in an accident which upset a mile and one-half north of Upper Sandusky about 8 o'clock last night.

The car in which the Marion party, consisting of a Cadillac sedan driven by Frederick Smith, son of Dr. and Mrs. F. J. Smith, 730 E. Center, oversteered when young Smith was forced to suddenly apply his brakes to avoid colliding with another car as it rounded a corner from a side road onto the main highway. The Smith car swerved to the right of the road and overturned into a ditch. Little damage was done.

Other occupants of the Smith car were Mrs. Smith and a younger son, Philip, and Miss Virginia Thacker,

M. J. Pfeiffer of near Upper Sandusky was driving the other automobile, was said.

the center, or main span, and the width of the ground floor, 120 feet. The floor is of concrete with a covering of asphalt to deaden the sound. The height of the center span is 40 feet from the floor to the dome, and the roof, unique in construction, is supported by columns 14 to 14 inches, made of long leaf southern pine. The roof, having a total floor space of about 16,000 square feet, is the greatest span of roofing in the world. Known as the Tamala roof, it was perfected by a German engineer and has been used in the United States only once before.

On the main floor of the coliseum, more than 4,000 seats have been provided, 2,500 reserved for delegates and alternates, an additional 1,000 for the army of working newspaper reporters who will cover the convention for the newspapers of the world.

The promenade in the rear of the hall will accommodate 1,000, and the one tier gallery will care for the rest of the ticket holders.

- The New Book -

By FRANCES JENNINGS

ONE can't help but derive a peculiar delight out of reading a new book one or more of his friends have already read and condensed. At least if he doesn't find satisfaction in the book he is driven to reading it by curiosity. Such was the case in "The Story of Philosophy," by Mrs. L. Adams Beck tells that of the case in "The Story of Oriental Philosophy," a worthy ancestor to "An Artist in the Family," a book selected with glee from the shelves of the Hartnett Drug Co. upon hearing that others who had read the book "didn't like it at all."

While it is drab, colorless, almost lifeless, one better understands the book is more prepared for what is to come perhaps, if one has ever read any of such Gertrude Millin's earlier novels, "God's Stepchildren," for instance, "The Jordans" or "The South African."

For in "An Artist in the Family" Mrs. Millin touches on her favorite subject—the negro—South African and their relation to people of other races. Although the book does under the surface, attempt to explain the South African native's feeling of isolation, his feeble attempts to imitate the ways of white man, his pitiful ignorance of contrasting naughtiness, it centers primarily on an artist, a young man with an all-consuming egoism which he names "artistic temperament."

The man suffers from an exaggerated belief in his own power, a confidence in himself to which he will sacrifice everything, everyone with whom he comes in contact. An egoism which leads him, in the end of the book, to make an almost supreme sacrifice, that, when discovered to be unnecessary, only quickens his love of himself, his belief in his own greatness of heart.

Mrs. Millin's novel considers to what length the so-called artistic temperament shall have the right of way in the conventional walks of life—just how far a man may be permitted to suffer others to conform to his own standards of life—to submit to his own belief in his own importance.

FOR an answer to the frequently pondered question, "What's good to read?" a question that generally means "What's everyone else reading?" and talking about at the present time? no better authority can be consulted than that of best-seller lists.

Of the 44 books which follow, 25 are of the fiction class, and 10 are what is normally known as "general literature." All are agreed upon by publishing companies as "best sellers of the past month."

The fiction list includes "The Bridge of San Luis Rey," by Thornton, "Waterloo," by Hugh Walpole; "The Green Murder Case," by S. S. Van Dine; "Nevada," by Zane Grey; "Red Rust," by Cornell J. Cannon; "Beauty and the Beast," by Kathleen Norris; "Tobacco," by G. B. Stern; "Crossroads," by Louis Untermeyer; "Red Girl," by Van Dorn; "Claire Ambler," by Booth Tarkington; "Etched in Moonlight," by James Stephens; "The Hotel," by Elizabeth Bowen; "Deluge," S. Fowler Wright; "Ashenden," by W. Somerset Maugham; "Ambition," by Arthur Train; "Crimson Rose," by Grace Livingston Hill; "A President Is Born," by Fannie Burnet; "Jaha," by Maxine Roche; "Daisy Dasher," by Rose Macaulay; "The Ugly Duckling," by Leon Feuchtwanger; "The Island Within," by Ludwig Lewisohn; "Giants in the Earth," by Ole Rolvaag; "The Man Who Knew Coolidge," by Sinclair Lewis; "Home to Harlem," by Claude McKay, and "Meet," by Wilbur Daniel Steele.

In the list of "general literature" the following books are included: "Trader Horn," "Dianrell," by Andre Maurois; "Mother India," by Katherine Mayo; "Napoleon," by Emil Ludwig; "Skyward," by Richard E. Byrd; "We," by Charles A. Lindbergh; "Strange Interlude," by Eugene O'Neill; "Refuge," by Martin Johnson; "Count Luckner, the Red Devil," by Lowell Thomas; "My Life," by Judda Duncan; "Christ at the Round Table," by E. Stanley Jones; "Lawrence and the Arabian Adventure," by Robert Graves; "Bismarck," by Emil Ludwig; "The Great American Band Wagon," by Charles Mervin; "Black Majestys," by John W. Vandenberg; "Dreams in Praise of Practically Nothing," by Samuel Hufstein; "Americas Prosperity," by Paul M. Mauzy; "The Story of Philosophy," by Will Durant, and "I've Got Some Number" by Doris Webster and Mary Alden Hopkins.

R. FOWLER WRIGHT
HAS NEW NOVEL

"THE Island of Captain Barrow" is the title of R. Fowler Wright's second novel to be published July 20 by the Metropolitan Book Corporation. It is said to be even more exciting than Mr. Wright's "Deluge" and is written in a style which reminds Robert Louis Stevenson.

CRUSADERS TO SENT RELIEF PLAN

Leaders Will Lay Orphan Child
on Democratic Doorstep with Fond Hopes

Marshall, Tex., June 22—Crusaders in the cause of farm-relief, here to lay the case of an orphan child on the doorstep of the Democratic national convention, to predict its adoption and a rapid growth into full maturity after the No-not intense plea for recognition.

Trudging southward in record time after their futile fight over the McNary-Haugen bill in Kansas City, the farm leaders already are engaged in a quiet and intense plea for recognition.

There will be no farmers' march on convention, and none of the bland farm bands which sounded a menacing note at the height of the Republican meeting.

There was some indication that the farm leaders would not insist upon the McNary-Haugen bill being mentioned by name, although the same farm relief bank that was rejected at Kansas City will be presented here.

An alternative proposal being discussed, is to endorse the principles of the surplus control plan of the national farm organizations with a pledge of a special session of Congress to enact it into law if the Democratic ticket is successful.

SOLDIERS AT AGRAM FINALLY RESTORE ORDER

Vienna, June 22—Soldiers at Agram (Zagreb) restored order today after a violent outbreak of political rioting in which four persons were killed and 45 seriously wounded. The violence resulted from the assassination of two Croatian peasant deputies in parliament at Belgrade on Wednesday—Paul Raditch and George Bascic.

The bodies of the slain deputies arrived at Agram this morning and were received by a huge crowd, said a dispatch from Belgrade. The whole city is covered with black flags. The burial will take place on Saturday.
